An Immense Class of Tyros Scheduled to Do the Hot Foot Stunt Tonight

BANQUET TO THE BRETHREN BY RATHBONE SISTERS

Feast for the Inner Man at the Epperson Theatre.
Notes and Incidents of the Big Meeting.

The "Dokeys" are here and have taken the town. They are still coming and by night will be here in force, making the welkin ring and amazing and terrifying women and children. They are a wonderful aggregation, and underneath their apparent levity lies a deep seated determination to perform their duty and knit mankind more closely together in the bonds of brotherly love. Followers of Damon and Pythias, they go further than their great pro-that would put an Iris hpolitian to blush. He is an excellent chaperon for the K. C. boys, and bears with all their joking till they get gay and refer to the alkali spot on his head—then it's all off. J. D. Yates is also here from Kansas City and was in the parade. The Dokeys call him the "Good Indian." He is connected with the Nickel Plate Railway system, but there is nothing nickel about him—he has the ring of pure metal. C. S. Leonard is one of the most entertaining in the outside bunch, a Dokey by choice and an all around good fellow by nature. What he won't do to the Tyros tonight will be a caution. Walter C. Jahnke, "the mascot," Geo. B. Adams, a stockbroker; L. M. Rowland, a prominent contractor; G. L. Bowers, of the P. O. department; J. D. Brown and Mark C. Campbell, leading lawyers, and S. R. Brick, architect, are all here from Kansas City, besides many others. Henry Hesse, of St. Joe, Mo., came here with this bunch, and H. W. Belding, of Baxter, Kansas, arrived on the 1:40 train. They are from Texas, from all over the two territories, and from everywhere else, and those who were in the parade today, reinforced by those who were not, will be in the parade tonight and make Rome howl. Every member of the team is in fine shape to go through the work tonight and the Tyros have been sycing them pretty carefully all day, and in their imagination, putting their strength against them. Traveling through the scorching sands of the desert will be no joke for the couple of hundred. For the information of those not acquainted with Pythianism, it may be said that the D. O. K. K. is to the K. of P. what the Shriners are to the Masons. It is a kind of side issue, not binding upon the Knights, but wherever it is possible the Knights tumble over each other to join it. It unfolds greater mysteries; leads to higher joys and affords more experience to the square inch than any other organization to the square mile.

"Doky" is all that can be seen, heard or thought of in Tulsa today. This afternoon occurred one immense parade, gorgeous with resplendent costumes and marked with amusing emblems and comical features. Another big parade will take place this evening. A throng of over two hundred Tyros will dance in the sand of the burning desert tonight and solve the mysteries of Dokysm. The Rathbone Sisters will feed the assembled multitude at a magnificent banquet tonight in the Epperson opera house. The day will be remembered in Tulsa as one of the most remarkable and successful lodge gatherings in her history.

The desert will be partly traveled over tonight when needed refreshments will be offered by the auxiliary lodge, Rathbone Sisters. The Sisters have spread themselves and a number of tables at the same time, and provided a feast which the much worn Tyros and all Knights will very greatly appreciate and enjoy. Everything that could be purchased within a radius of 100 miles will be set before the famished wanderers and served by sympathetic and fair hands. The oil of joy will be poured in, the wounds and bruises dressed and everything done to comfort and solace. The banquet will be served in the old Epperson opera house, and ample provisions have been made and provided for the feasting of over 300 guests, for the Dokeys, the Rathbone Sisters and the K. of P. never do anything by halves.

other branch, but no one who is familiar with the ways of congress takes seriously the vaporing of senators or places any dependence on the ability of the senate to force the house to accept their amendments by putting it on the appropriation bill as a rider. The Democrats have devised a better plan, but unfortunately it is like a two-edged sword, it is liable to cut both ways. The minority leader, John Sharp Williams, announced the other day that he would object to any bill being taken up out of regular order, which must have unanimous consent, and put on its passage, until after the report of the conference committee. An unsympathetic public does not realize what this action of Mr. Williams means to the average congressman. It means that if he don't get certain bills through, somebody else will be occupying his seat, and drawing the pay and the mileage that the present incumbent wants for himself. The action on the part of the minority leader will operate against the Democrats as well as Republicans, and it is doubtful if Mr. Williams can hold his men in line. This congress has been prolific in producing rebels and the Republicans are not the only ones who are having trouble with kickers individually or in bunches. Uncle Joe Cannon, it is said, takes considerable comfort watching the man from Mississippi trying to control his unruly flock on the Democratic side of the house. Of course talk of adjourning is already in the air, which naturally sends shivers through new members who haven't got their little bills through, but there is no doubt that this session will hang on until the last of June, and perhaps will not adjourn until after the fourth of July. Generally, the procedure of the steering committee is, to let all the favorites of the committee and Uncle Joe get their bills out of the way before they order the report of the appropriation bills. Your correspondent tried to get an expression from Senator Foraker in regard to the possibility of an agreement of the conference. The senator was non-committal on the subject. Senator Beveridge and Speaker Cannon are satisfied with the bill resting in the committee, and it will die there before any effort on their part will be put forth to bring it out.

NEW BORN INFANT DEAD.

The new born infant of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Beard of West First street died this morning of heart failure and was buried this afternoon by Mowbray & Winterringer.

THE HOOSIERS WILL PICNIC

DELIGHTFUL OUTING PROMISED AT JENKS TOMORROW.

ALL INDIANANS WELCOME

Wagon Load of Chickens, 600 Pounds of Fish, Cool, Sparkling Spring
Water—There and Back 50 Cts.

Big doin's out at Jenks tomorrow! Every Hoosier, large and small, male and female, is invited. The Hoosier picnic, of which there has been so much talk, comes off "sure enough." Thanks to the efforts of a live committee, everything is in shape for a good time. The grounds have been cleared, a speakers' stand erected in case there be occasion for bursts of oratory, and last, but not least, tables to hold the loads of "yaller-legged" chicken and "sich like."

J. E. Hopkins will have on hand 600 pounds of fish, which means a grand fish fry. There is plenty of fish in the river adjacent the picnic grounds, and plenty of fresh spring water.

The train leaves the Midland Valley station at 7:25 in the morning. Two extra coaches will be provided which will be set off at Jenks. Returning, the train leaves Jenks at 6 o'clock in the evening. The fare is fifty cents for the round trip.

The Hoosier Club met in the reception rooms of Mowbray & Winterringer's Undertaking establishment last night and adopted the constitution and by laws. This makes the Hoosier Club one of the permanent features of Tulsa's social system. Any person born in Indiana or having resided within the borders of the state three years is eligible to active membership. Wives or husbands of Hoosiers can become honorary members. Membership fee is twenty-five cents to all.

The secretary is instructed to secure a permanent place for meetings, which will be held once a month.

The club will be made headquarters for Indiana people who may chance to be in Tulsa on their travels. Club stationery and whatever else is needed will be provided at once.

Several signed the permanent roll last night and many more will be enrolled before the end of the week. A careful estimate places the Indiana population in Tulsa at 200, and not one should fail to ally himself or herself with the Hoosier Club.

MRS. ST. JOHN TO LECTURE.

Mrs. C. H. St. John, of the W. C. T. U. will lecture in the M. E. church, south, tomorrow and Friday nights. Mrs. St. John is a lady of remarkable eloquence and always attracts an audience. She is charming in style and delivery, as the following from the Lockport Daily Journal will prove: "Mrs. C. H. St. John was the speaker of the day. For an hour and thirty minutes she poured out one continuous torrent of logic, pathos and facts that held her audience spell bound, and when she sat down the entire audience gave vent to their approval in prolonged applause. Her powers of endurance are remarkable, as she immediately sat down at the organ and sang, by request, a song of her own composition, 'God is at the Helm.'"

A FRENCH STRIKE IS SERIOUS.

Business in Town of Lorient, France, at a Standstill. Paris, April 25.—The general situation at Lorient resulting from the strike, is growing worse hourly. Business is at a standstill and the town is like a city of the dead. It is feared that the smoldering resentment may flare up any minute. The government, fearing an outbreak here on May day, today caused heavy detachments of cavalry to parade the streets with a view of impressing the people.

A MISERABLE FAILURE.

A Decided Reflection on the City and The Commercial Club. The Commercial Club Band concert last night in the Grand opera house was a miserable failure, a fiasco, and a decided reflection on the Commercial Club and the city of Tulsa.

This statement is made only with regard to the number present. The concert itself was excellent, indeed, one of the best entertainments ever given in Tulsa.

The World man counted the audience, and upstairs and down there were only 80 people.

Dr. Kreyer, the leader, who has performed wonders in bringing the band to such a pitch of excellence, has announced his intention to give up the job and leave the city. Nobody can blame him.

The Commercial Club was to get half the proceeds, the band was to get the other half—Neither gets anything and the band is in debt.

The members of the Commercial Club were conspicuous by their absence, the members of the committee, appointed to sell the tickets, were also absent, the president and secretary of the club were present, and both were righteously mad.

Every number on the program was appreciated by the few present and each was heartily applauded. The boys did their share fully and well—the city and the club fell down.

Had it been left to the band to sell the tickets, the affair would have been a success.

A RUNAWAY YESTERDAY.

Yesterday a young horse hitched to a Home Bakery wagon ran away on North Frisco street, and after totally demolishing the wagon, was stopped by onlookers. The wagon was valued at $125. One month ago the same bakery, by reason of a runaway, lost a wagon in the same manner, as well as crippling the driver. That's not all—two horses were poisoned last winter, and G. Doubler, the proprietor, wonders when his ill luck will end.

FREIGHT TRAIN DYNAMITED.

Wreck in a Cut Off Above Pittsburg Last Night.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 25.—A Lehigh Valley freight train was dynamited in the cut off above Pittsburg at midnight last night. Engineer Thomas and Fireman Brown were dangerously hurt. The train was partly demolished. The cut off was used mostly by coal trains. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

MOB HANGS NEGRO FIEND.

Would Be Rapist Captured and Lynched Early Today.

Oakwood, Texas, April 25.—A negro of the age of seventeen, who invaded the home of a white woman and was driven off and captured, was taken from the sheriff early this morning and hanged by a mob of angry citizens.

GETTING POINTERS HERE.

C. M. Hirt and C. F. Stewart of Pawhuska are meditating doing some considerable building in their town and were in Tulsa this morning getting pointers from our buildings. They got them in plenty and went home full of information. Mr. Hirt regrets not having located in Tulsa seven years ago.

AMERICANS WIN OUT.

Two New Yorkers Carry Off the Palm at Athens.

Athens, Greece, April 25.—In the Olympic games today Martin Sheridan of New York won the discus throwing championship, and Charles Daniels, also of New York, won the final heat in the swimming race.

TWENTY-ONE TRUE BILLS

The grand jury reported twenty-one true bills at Tablequah on last Thursday afternoon and the dismissal of charges against Julius Morgan and Mark Duffield, both charged with bootlegging.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

I. O. R. M. ADJOURNED AFTER INSTALLATION.

MEET NEXT AT COALGATE

A Most Harmonious Meeting Held in Tulsa and Prosperity and Increase
In Membership Reported.

The Great Council of the Independent Order of Red Men, after being in session here all day yesterday, adjourned last night after a most successful installation of officers. The next Great Council will be held at Coalgate, I. T., on the Fourth Tuesday in Plant Moon, G. S. D. 416.

The officers installed last night were as follows:

- Great Sachem—Joseph Prevost, Coalgate.
- Great Senior Sagamore—L. D. Loo-per, Ada.
- Great Junior Sagamore—T. F. Wy-coff, Tulsa.
- Great Prophet—R. J. Evans, Hail-eyville.
- Great Chief of Records—W. B. Hodgins, Poteau.
- Great Keeper of Wampum—J. Bog-ger, Ardmore.
- Robert Williamson of Coalgate was appointed trustee for three years, and R. J. Evans of Hailleyville was made representative to the Grand Council of the United States.

The installing ceremonies were conducted by M. Edwin Deming of Muskogee, Past Great Prophet, and right well did he perform his duties. The ceremonies took place in Redmen's Hall, on First and Elgin streets, but the sessions during the day were held in Fraternal Hall, on Boulder avenue.

The Great Chief of Records, speaking about the council, said it was the best that has ever been held in the Territory. Delegates were here from 21 different lodges and the greatest harmony was observed in the transaction of business. Mr. Hodgins pronounced that within a year the membership will be increased, certainly 500, and probably 1,000, as interest and enthusiasm are reaching fever heat. In the degree of Poehontas there are four lodges in the Territory, and these are also steadily gaining ground.

HOME MISSION SOCIETY.

The Ladies' Home Mission Society of the M. E. church, south, will meet with Mrs. John McAlister in her new home on South Main street, on Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. McAlister extends a most cordial and earnest invitation to all the ladies of the church, without exception, to be present and assist her in her housewarming, to get acquainted with each other and to transact business for the society. All who attend will have reason to be glad they did so.

Little Rock, Ark., April 25.—Six residence blocks, on South Main street, were burned last night as the result of a fire which started in C. C. totypes and show friendship to their many brothers in ways to which the common, every-day world is a stranger.

They paraded this afternoon and gave the people of Tulsa just a wee glimpse of the greater parade they may expect tonight.

The most prominent, and by all odds the most popular, member in the procession today was brother Joe Matulys, by the grace of Uncle Sam, First Lieutenant in Troop B, Tulsa Cavalry. Joe wore the uniform of his honorable office, and I looked particularly distingue, calling forth encomiums from the fair sex on both sides of the street.

C. C. Dearborn, of the firm Simpson, Groves & Co., of Kansas City, was also a distinguished figure, whose coming is greatly appreciated by the local brethren. It is said that C. C.'s fealty to the Rathbone Sisters was the chief inducement of his Tulsa visit, but most of the Knights regard this as a calumny. He exemplifies politeness, and has that spirit of jollity

STATEHOOD BILL IS HANGING IN THE BALANCE

SENATE TRIES TO BLUFF THE HOUSE.

ADJOURNMENT IN JULY

A Dismal Outlook for the Proposed New State—Foraker Is Interviewed.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Special Correspondent of the World.—That the conference committee will fail to agree on the statehood bill and that there will be no report is foreshadowed by the threat of senators to attach the bill as a rider to the appropriation bill. This threat is a stock one, and is always used by either house when it wants to coerce the
